

HIGHLIGHTS OF CURRENT EVENTS

By BILL DENNIS

(Editor's Note: Shy, retiring Bill Dennis returns to the fold this week with his regular round-up of "Highlights of Current Events.")

Two news items appearing in last week's Chronicle are, we feel, worthy of comment.

The first item dealt with the information that one Elsa Koch had had her sentence commuted from 123456123456 to four years by General Clay, our top military figure in Germany.

Four years is about the length of sentence meted out to car thieves, first offenders on bad check charges, and other more or less petty criminals in our country.

The article pointed out that there was insufficient evidence to support the contention that Miss Koch was guilty of the crime of which she was accused. Apparently the prosecution was unable to find any lamp shades made from human skin to use as evidence against Frau Koch.

LOOKS PHONY
Well, if there is any reasonable doubt in the General's mind as to whether or not this alleged woman is entitled to more of a sentence than that imposed on a local car thief, we suggest that he consult with some of the infantrymen who released her prisoners. We feel certain that they would be quite vehement in demanding life, at least for Frau Monster.

The second article that seems worthy to recall here, appeared September 16 on their editorial page of the Chronicle. We were pleased to note that this article was devoted to condemning the high-handed manner with which the Un-American Activities Committee has been treating our Atomic Scientists.

The editorial pointed out that many of our top physicists and atomic research experts were either leaving the federal project at Oak Ridge or were refusing to work at other atomic research projects because of the risk of defamatory publicity by this same congressional committee.

We are in complete agreement with the editorial exactly as written. We submit, however, that it could have been carried a step farther. Why not condemn the Committee for defamation of character against ALL of the individuals accused. Why limit the condemnation to the case of the Atomic scientists exclusively?

NOT BIASED

This column never has been pro British, pro Russian, or pro Ethiopian. We've tried in the past to look objectively at both sides of the news stories upon which we have commented. We are forced at this time, however, to lean toward the British method of news reporting.

If an individual is accused of a crime in England, he remains entirely anonymous until proven guilty. The British press is held entirely liable for all erroneous and false accusations. We have libel laws in this country, too, but often a great deal of damage is done to an individual's character without that damage being construed as libelous.

We feel that congressional committees of all kinds are important. We feel that the record of most of these committees has been above reproach and that the services rendered by them have more than justified their existence.

We feel, however, that the work of these committees could be carried on just as efficiently and effectively without the Hollywood touch that they seemingly have acquired.

In the interest of fairer and more objective reporting, the American press might well follow the lead of the British in this area. The least our papers could do on this subject would be to use the same size headlines proclaiming a man's innocence as those used to proclaim his accusation of guilt.

Physical Examinations Given Again Sept. 28-29

Men and women students who missed physical examinations may take them October 9 and September 28-29, respectively. The times for women are 8-11:15 a.m. and 1-4 p.m., Room 103, Anderson Hall, while men may take their examinations from 12-1 p.m. in the Men's Training Quarters.

Petitions For Officers Due in Next Friday, Hut 4

Petitions for class officers are due next Friday in Hut 4, according to Phil Ryan, activities commissioner.

Class elections will be held October 8. Petitions should contain 15 signatures, Ryan stated.

State Enrollment Still Skyrocketing

Seating Plan Stays As Co-op Records 'Overflow Sales'

The cafeteria "20 cent minimum or more" plan will stay in effect for at least three weeks to give it a chance to work," Al Gabriel, store council chairman, said this week.

"Even though there have been a great many protests, the first two days of the plan proved a great success. On the first day, the cafeteria had the greatest amount of sales in its history," Gabriel continued.

WELCOME TO MEETINGS
"We want people to know that this is just a trial. If it doesn't work, other measures will be taken. Students are welcome to attend Board of Directors' meetings in Hut 4 on Tuesdays at 1 p.m. to ask questions and present alternative plans, if they have any," Gabriel said.

SPACE A PROBLEM
"Our greatest problem is space. If the college could provide a place for students with sack lunches we would have nothing to worry about," he said.

According to Gabriel, Store Council members had attempted to acquire Hut 3 for students who bring lunches from home, but it still was needed for classes. The council planned to move the record player and coke machine from the snack bar and install tables in the extra hut.

Queried on what the council would do in case of rain, Gabriel said the Gym would be opened.

Leonard Attends Three-Day Meeting

President J. Paul Leonard will return to San Francisco tomorrow from a three-day conference of California State College presidents in Sacramento. Purpose of the meeting was to attend Department of Education hearings on the proposed college budgets for the year 1948-49.

Expenses are up approximately 20 per cent over last year, Dr. Leonard stated Tuesday. This is caused partially by the addition of faculty members and the increased cost of equipment and supplies, he added.

Financial Report Reflects Credit Improved Methods Assist Position

ASSOCIATED STUDENT BODY, S. F. STATE COLLEGE

A slight gain in financial position and a definite improvement in organization methods of book-keeping were highlights of an auditor's report on financial condition of Associated Students for the year 1947-1948, Charles A. Roumasset, administrator of student affairs, and Hank Marscheck, student body treasurer, announced this week.

The firm of Prior and MacClellan, auditors for Associated Students, commented in their analysis, "The student corporation is beginning to get its head above water and has made a start toward achieving a sound financial position."

AID IN FINANCE

Mr. A. A. MacClellan emphasized that although position of the cafeteria was one which would need careful attention, he was certain the newly initiated seating program would aid in attaining financial solvency.

The cafeteria suffered an operating loss of $4969.97 and the Bookstore made a net profit of $4376.69, for the period covered in the report.

INCREASED CAPITAL

Activities Division of the corporation increased its capital investment by $11,027.38 over the same period. The increase in capital investment, Marscheck explained, does not mean the corporation made a profit of this amount since the sum must be used to meet outstanding obligations, replenish depleted reserves, and set up earmarked funds as provided by the 10-point plan.

Marscheck added that regular publication of financial reports would be considered one of the prime duties of his office. He hopes to publish similar information in the Golden Gater at least twice each semester.

'Hello Dance' in Gym Tonight

First Free Social Begins New Term; Dancing From 9-12

First student body sponsored dance of the Fall semester will be presented tonight from 9 to 12 in the Women's Gym, and will feature Rudy Salvini and orchestra.

Couples may attend with student body card and 50 cents.

According to Phil Ryan, activities commissioner, the affair will be sport and will have a "Hello" theme. Admission is free to student body card holders and $1.25 per person to nonholders.

PHIL RYAN

Delta Gamma Tau, service fraternity, will be on the door and Delta Phi Gamma will handle refreshments. Members of the Board of Directors will form the floor committee.

SB Card Sales Over the Top In Initial Week

Student Body Card sales went "over the top" this week when 2286 were recorded sold on the official thermometer near the snack bar.

"We'd like to break 2500," said Hank Marscheck, student body treasurer. "We expect to sell that many before the end of October."

"For those students who can't afford the $8 and would like to work for Associated Students, we can find jobs where they can earn a card," said Marscheck.

Students who wish to join campus clubs and organizations, and participate in athletic events will be barred from such activities if they do not have cards.

Card holders receive free post boxes, weekly copies of the Golden Gater, free admission to games and reductions on drama admissions and dances.

Cards can be bought at Hut 4 from 9 to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Rah Rah Leaders Hypo Grid Efforts

Yell leaders, complete with acrobatic stunts and rah-rah energy, will be hyping our rooting section at the night football games this term, according to Phil Ryan, activities commissioner.

Those who have tried out for the posts so far are: Gloria Reyes, Nicki Cornish, Barbara Blair, John Truchard, Dale Perkins, and Paul Vieregge.

Final selections will be announced in the Golden Gater next week.

Full Data Needed Before VA Sends Subsistence Checks

Subsistence checks of many veterans enrolling in Northern California schools this month under the G. I. Bill will be delayed because they are not submitting complete information on their enrollment papers, or the information is so poorly written that it cannot be read, Veterans Administration reported early this week.

The San Francisco office will have to process approximately 48,000 enrollment papers in the next few weeks. The veteran who fails to submit complete or legibly written information threatens to delay not only his own check, but those of all other veterans entering school, according to Robert P. Shields, San Francisco regional VA manager.

Professor Joins Guidance Center Staff to Aid Vets

Charles C. Collins, assistant professor of psychology, has joined the staff at the Veterans' Guidance Center, according to Dr. Henry Lindgren.

"The addition of Dr. Collins to the staff will enable us to give guidance to more students," Dr. Lindgren said.

Dr. Collins also pointed out there is no longer a waiting list for appointments at the center.

Dr. Collins received his A.B. in political science and his M.A. in vocational counseling and guidance at the University of California. He now is completing his studies at Stanford University for his Ph.D.

At the San Francisco regional office of the Veterans' Administration he served as supervisor of the unit for severely disabled veterans.

Dept. Heads Post Few Office Changes

To alleviate some of the new-term confusion for the old as well as the new students here at State, we thought it best to post a few of the office changes of the department heads.

Office of Mary A. Ward, dean of women, has been moved from Room 105 to 121, College Hall.

Walter J. Homan, dean of admissions, has been moved from Room 105 to 111, College Hall.

Division of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, formerly in Room 107, now is housed in Rooms 115, 116, 116-A, and 117 of College Hall.

New chairman of the Division of Social Science, Donald M. Castleberry; A. Eason Monroe, head of the Division of Language Arts; and Waldemar Johansen of the Division of Creative Arts, now can be located in Room 107, College Hall.

William E. Knuth, chairman of the Division of Creative Arts, can be found in Annex 3 of the Music Annex.

Elias Arneson and George Gibson of the Division of Humanities are in Room 121, College Hall.

Frosh 'Get-Together' Thrown By Kappa Theta

Popular Sigmund Stern Grove once more will be the site of a picnic—this one, the annual Freshman Picnic, sponsored by Kappa Theta, a service sorority.

The get-together will commence at 7 p.m. this coming Tuesday and is scheduled for four hours.

According to President Polly Johnson, admission is 50 cents to student body card holders, 75 cents to those without. The success of last year's outing, together with the limited capacity of the Grove, prompted Miss Johnson to urge students to buy their tickets early.

Dancing to favorite bands (phonograph records) will highlight the program. Refreshments will consist of coffee, cokes, hotdogs, potato chips and pickles. Casual clothes will be the dress for the evening.

Students Jam Premise As College Reopens For 3600 Maximum

State's student enrollment may skyrocket to 3600 before registration is closed this term, Reginald Bell, dean of student personnel and guidance, announced yesterday. Applications for entrance were reopened last Monday, after having been closed on August 31, when the expected enrollment reached 3500. However, 200 students who had pre-programmed did not re-enter and it was found that 100 more could be accommodated.

Dean Bell emphasized this week that new students will be allowed to register until the 3600 mark is reached. He believes that at least 300 students will be refused admission because of lack of facilities.

FIGURES ANNOUNCED

A break-down of official registration figures, as the paper goes to press, shows that there are 2019 regular students; 376 limited students; 1157 veterans studying under Public Law No. 345, 16 or under the state veterans subsidy plan.

STREAMLINED PROCEDURE

Registration procedure was streamlined this term with the elimination of a few of the bottlenecks. Plans have been laid to further streamline registration by next semester. "We recognize the biggest bottleneck occurred with the distribution of class cards," Dean Bell stated. "It is hoped that next term the preliminary issuance of class cards will be eliminated."

This and other streamlining of registration procedure is being studied by a faculty committee appointed by President J. Paul Leonard. Dean P. F. Valentine had invited student comments and suggestions on registration.

PM Kick-off Festivities Include 'Jig'

Three firsts will go down in State record books, come next Friday night.

1. First night football game under the newly-erected arc lights at Lake Merced Stadium.

2. First evening dance immediately following the game (annual Kick-off Dance, sponsored by Sigma Pi Sigma, service fraternity).

3. Latest hour a dance has been scheduled within the portals of State College (10 p.m.), and first time a social affair at State has been allowed to extend into early morning hours (1 a.m.).

Two new seasons in Staters' lives will be unveiled in the making. The Purple and Gold grid-ders collide with the visiting Whittier Poets to inaugurate their 1948 season. After the contest the Fall social season is ushered in with the annual Kick-off Dance in the Gym.

Admission to the State-Whittier game is free to student body card holders and $1.20 to those without.

Dance tickets will sell at 75 cents each with student body card and $1 without.

Half-time ceremonies for the gridiron now are being mapped by Toni Robinson, member-at-large.

Marty Leaver's Orchestra will provide music for the Kick-off Dance.

Publicity Agent Hired For Gators

A monthly $50 publicity appropriation for men's athletics was approved at the Tuesday meeting of the Board of Directors.

Funds will be used to publicize the athletic activities and provide a salary for what Toni Robinson, member-at-large, termed a "leg-man" for publicity work.

The job, defined by Miss Robinson, consists of writing and editing copy and getting it to downtown papers for publication.

Prior to approval, discussion centered on advisability of the measure since it concerns only one phase of student body activity.

Diving Champ

PATSY ELSENER

Patsy Elsener, U. S. Olympic diving champion, enrolled at State this week as a freshman.

Miss Elsener, who garnered second and third place medals in the women's springboard diving and platform diving events at London, will work for a liberal arts degree. She is a graduate of Galileo High School.

Music Fed Sponsors Picnicking Monday At Stern Grove Park

The Music Federation will hold the first social of the semester from 5 to 11 p.m. Monday at Sigmund Stern Grove, 19th Avenue at Sloat Boulevard. The event will combine a picnic with the semi-annual mass meeting usually held on campus.

Emphasis of the affair will be on entertainment, according to Hal Graubart, Fed president. Dancing, food, and a program and introduction of club officers are billed for the evening, he said. Professional artists headlining the program include Don Rizzo, accordionist; George Cavell, pianist; and Vern Martelle with his three musical "hillbillies."

The entire student body is invited, stage or drag, Graubart announced. Fed members will be admitted free, with a charge of 25c for guests.

Games will start the evening at 5, with dinner at 6:30. Entertainment bows in at 7, with dancing until 11.

Informational literature distributed during registration provided numbers which will be drawn at the picnic. An album of records of the winner's choice is offered as first prize.

Lighting System Declared Top Rate

The $12,500 lighting installation for the Lake Merced campus was previewed last Wednesday night and was approved as being "first rate" by David J. Cox, dean of health, physical education and recreation, main backer of the project.

Six poles are behind the stands and above the natural bowl of the stadium. A battery of 12 lights is fixed on each pole and has been placed so that the maximum of light is directed at every corner of the field.

Coach Dick Boyle stated today he has arranged a varsity scrimmage for Tuesday night. It will be the final night workout of the team before the opening game with Whittier on October 1.

YEARBOOK NOT CERTAIN

It occurred to us while observing at a meeting of the Board of Directors last week that a yearbook for '49 may not be issued next June. This is not intended as a cry of "wolf." Rather, it seems now is the time to throw light on a situation of real interest to all of us.

As was pointed out at the meeting, a total of 800 Franciscans were sold last Spring. In an enrollment of some 3500, should this figure be taken as a symptom of student ennui, lack of funds, or was some other factor curtailing sales? It seems that before plans for another Franciscan are tabled or initiated, an answer to this question from the students should be forthcoming.

If the majority of us actually do not want a yearbook, now is the time to let the student government know. It will save a great deal of expense, such as photography costs and down-payments to printers, at a time when Associated Students is faced with the problem of writing off the debt for the stadium lights. It may serve, also, as a point of information in the future, if we disclose why we don't want another annual.

If, however, the majority of us do want a Franciscan in '49, we must say so in no uncertain terms. It might be wise also to find some way of assuring sale of all the books for which a contract is made. Once books are printed, binders do not take them back. Associated Students is left holding a bill for an amount of four figures, if the yearbooks are not bought by the students.

It is not enough to say we want a book. Each of us must be prepared to pay for a copy, in advance if need be, to assure success of the undertaking.

Another consideration brought out at the meeting was that if there is to be an annual, plans must be initiated this semester. It will be too late to start work on a Franciscan next term.

At present, there is no yearbook editor or staff. Selecting them, however, will prove no problem since there is no dearth of writing and organizing talent on campus.

The important questions, now, are whether or not we want a Franciscan in '49 and if we do, do we want it badly enough to back it to the teeth.

The answers are up to us.—E. E.

Buy Student Body Card Today!

Tonight, when Phil Ryan, activities commissioner, launches the first free student body dance of the semester, attending students figuratively will cut the first coupons from an $8 investment. Student body card sales passed the two thousand mark last Friday, but the more additional cards sold from now on, the greater the benefits, tangible and abstract, which can be guaranteed the student body.

All activities, free and otherwise, financed by Associated Students are done so with funds derived from $8 investments. Taken separately, the investments do not appear great; added together they form an effective means of providing facilities for a well rounded college life.

The only way to be certain of getting a sufficient number of free dances, good looking jerseys for the team, and lots of light at the stadium is to invest our $8 in Associated Students. Buy a card today; go to the dance tonight.—E. E.

FOLLOW THE BRITISH?

To the Editor: After hearing and seeing, at one time or another, the three major candidates running for the office of Chief Executive this year—President Harry Truman, Henry A. Wallace and Thomas E. Dewey—it is my opinion that more people should jump on the Socialist bandwagon and support that great American, Norman Thomas, for President of the United States.

No one man of the "big three" can boast that he has the majority of the population supporting him. In such confusion as there is in the world today, with few people understanding why they are "for this and against that," wouldn't it be feasible for the people of America to make an extreme sacrifice. That is, compromise their ideals and get behind the man who can give all the American people just a little bit of what each of them wants and needs.

I have long studied the platforms of each of the "big three." I have found who the "principle men" are that are supporting each of the "big three." And I don't mind saying that I don't like it.

Why not give Norman Thomas the chance to be Chief Executive for the forthcoming term? Why not give the American people a man who can help each and every one of them in a different way? Why not vote for Norman Thomas for President of the United States?—Robert Ainsworth.

TRUE MERIT EXTOLLED

To the Editor: Although it's a bit late to be writing in about the excellence of the Summer Session Golden Gater, a group of my friends and I wish to extend our hearty approval for the wonderful work done by the staff that produced these excellent tabloid editions.

My friends and I particularly enjoyed the make-up work and wish to extend our felicitations to Ed Levity, whose name appeared in the staff box, for his capable handling of the fine editions.

Also our hats are off to Marvin Richards and Richard Marvin for their enjoyable feature stories. An ardent reader,

ALICE ADAMS.

Calling All Bachelors: Hey! Don't Be a Fall Guy

By NATHANIEL BLACK

Ever since Eve cajoled Adam into consuming an apple, it has been the destiny of man to provide for the female, to pay her way to the movies, to surrender his seat on public conveyances, and to build fires for her—come winter or summer.

And ever since Cain knocked off his kid brother, it has been the woman's role to go through a man's bank account, to continually rifle his pockets, to torment him with ridiculous hats, and to charge mental cruelty at the separation center.

IS MAN THE SUCKER?

Throughout evolution the male has been relegated to the role of the underdog, the provider, the protector, the breadwinner and the pursued—in sum, the sucker, while on the other hand woman has enacted the role of the beneficiary, the schemer, the protected and the culprit.

Listen, friends, don't be misled by rumors. It wasn't chivalry but the caprice of a woman that subjected that Raleigh chap to pneumonia, pleurisy and notoriety, and don't forget that it was a woman, Helen, who was the fly in the Trojan consommé.

Let me ask you one: Who promoted the premature funeral of naive, but noble, Macbeth? A woman, of course. Who made a drooling half-wit of Samson? History's first barber, Delilah, a woman!

ARE WOMEN VILE?

Where did Dante meet up with Beatrice? That's right, sir, at the core of hell! Take Mata Hari—the authorities did—was it not she who instrumented masculine mass burial?

Some day we'll have a look-see behind the iron curtain, chums, and we won't be surprised to find Joe's wife behind it.

Don't let her rush you to the middle isle, sir; lest you want to repent in leisure. Think it over. Why add to the ignominy of Reno?

And if they ever discover the culprit who disposed of Cock Robin, I'll bet my union suit it's a woman.

BE CAREFUL, MEN

Thus, in the light of these circumstances, it most certainly is a paradox why the statue of Liberty was conceived in the form of a woman; and don't you think it's about time we built a monument for Bluebeard?

So listen, fellows, I don't want to sound pessimistic, but you can't be too careful. It's still leap year, you know, and you're "in season" yet. Use more discretion when considering proposals. Make sure she's not after your dough or your policy. Find her true motive and get the facts.

Drop your G. I. insurance and see if she'll have you.

Was Senator Discreet?

POLITICS: Even our state senators aren't safe in public these days. This one was having a conversation with a colleague at a swank night club when he was struck without warning—and we don't mean by polio. The man who assaulted the senator's dignity later explained that when he heard someone utter "Un-American," he saw REDS.

SPORTS BEAT

By GORDON RADDUE

Jess Freitas, former Santa Clara football great who did post-graduate work here at State, has inked a contract with the Chicago Rockets professional team. Freitas attended classes at State the past two years, while spelling Frankie Albert at quarterback for the San Francisco 49ers.

Another former State athlete making good in the pro ranks is Jim Keating, who was probably the greatest all-around athlete ever to grace the campus at Haight and Buchanan streets. At last report "Big Jim" was pacing the league hitters while caving in the outfield for the Great Falls, Montana, nine. Among Keating's outstanding athletic feats at State were a .097 clocking for the 100-yard dash, a 27 point one-game scoring spree in basketball, and several outstanding pitching performances in baseball.

His scoring achievement in the hoop sport has been topped only twice in Gator history, once by Norm Keller with a 28, and by present Stater Dick Jaensch, who set the all-time high of 29 last season against Cal Aggies. Keating not only was a great point-maker for Coach Dan Farmer, but also was a defensive giant, particularly in the rebounding department, in which he generally was boss of both backboards.

He once took part in a stunt, racing with the fabulous hooper, Bill "Bojangles" Robinson, with the tap-dancer running backwards with a 25-yard handicap in a 100-yard dash against the State flash. The 10 flat or better Keating had to go all out to best Robinson by a whisker at the finish.

Only a knee injury kept the versatile athlete's fame from spreading to football. As a line-smashing fullback, he showed signs of becoming a Gator gridiron immortal, but after banging up his knee in a scrimmage, he chose to resign his talents to the other three sports instead of risking permanent injury. That it may well have been a wise choice is evident in the success of his first season in organized baseball.

A problem which has plagued Coach Dick Boyle in past years is that football players dropping out of school at the termination of the Fall term. This year has been no exception, with at least one member of the squad, Fullback Charlie Parish, being declared ineligible for the coming campaign because he was out of school last semester. Boyle wants to make it clear to football aspirants that in order to become eligible for gridiron competition, they must have been in school the previous semester.

Another illustrious figure in the world of sports has just enrolled at State this term in the person of Patsy Elsener, winner of third place honors in the women's high platform and springboard diving championships at the London Olympic games. She trailed Vickie Draves and Zoe Ann Olson in both events.

Stater Irving Palasky will represent the Dolphin Club in the Golden Gate swim next Sunday, negotiating the distance from San Francisco shore to Lime Point in Marin. Palasky doubles in wrestling and football at State, in addition to being a swimming instructor at Crystal Plunge. Roland Demariqs was the last State athlete to participate in the Gate Swim, churning the distance last Sunday.

Football filberts who often puzzle about the effect a large rooting section has on a team's success, may get a solution to the problem when State opens its '48 season Friday night against Whittier. The Gators figure to draw their largest opening day crowd in history.

Boyle Gets Help

State's football coaching staff has been greatly strengthened, with the addition of Vic Martinelli, former All-Coast guard from St. Mary's as head line-coach. Martinelli starred for the Gaels under both Edward "Slip" Madigan and "Red" Strader, present backfield coach of the pro New York Yankees.

BASKETBALL

Cagers Jump Gun On Coming Season

Basketball gets an early start at Buchanan Heights this season, with Coach Dan Farmer planning to rally his material together October 15 for the initial practice.

"Genial Dan" is in dire need of guards, preferably of the six-foot variety, to replace the departed combination of Jack Byrne and Ed Rathjen, last season's ace rebounding specialists. Only Center Bill Callas returns to bear the brunt of backboard control.

SCORING TWINS BACK

State is assured of the best forward combination in the Far West—happy pair of Dick Jaensch and John Burton taking over again at their old starting posts. Guards must be found, however, to get the ball to the pint-sized pair. Both Jaensch and Burton are accomplished rebounders for their 5'9" stature, but are too small to carry much of the load throughout the season.

GAEL ACE ELIGIBLE

The guard situation would get a tremendous lift if rugged Angelo Maestri, former St. Mary's star, decides to don a purple and gold uniform this season. One of the best defensive players in the Bay Area, Maestri has one more year of college eligibility remaining. The only hitch is that the talented cager is faced with the responsibility of being a family man and may have to pass up the hoop sport for more serious pursuits.

The Gators get into action against club competition November 10, with their first real test coming against the University of California, defending champion of the Southern Division of the Pacific Coast Conference.

State Grididders Ready For Whittier

WAA Activities Told By Managers and PE Staff

By FLORA AU YONG

A call for all women students to participate in sporting events has been issued by managers of various activities and the staff of the physical education department this week.

Managed by Jeanne Contel, field hockey will be held on Mondays and Tuesdays, 12 noon, with the upper and lower fields designated as scenes of action. Miss Dorothy Brett and Mrs. Helen Ogilvie will serve in the sponsor capacity. During the second nine weeks Ernestine Moore will hold volleyball sessions in the gym at the same hour and days.

RACQUETEERS MEET

Net stars, under the guidance of Helen Blount and Mrs. Ogilvie, will meet at the tennis courts on Wednesdays and Fridays, 12 noon. Practice sessions now are in progress for the big Tennis Playday to be played October 9 against the University of California Bear team at Berkeley.

Familiar faces again will be seen at the Marine Memorial Club, Sutter and Mason streets, on Thursday evening, 7-9 o'clock, when co-educational swimming will be held. Heading the group is manager Peggy Vasquez. On October 9 State's mermaids will take on the California Bears at Berkeley.

With Pat Gillespie directing WAA badminton activities, Wednesdays and Fridays, 12 noon, have been set aside for this event in the gym.

KEGLERS PLAN ACTIVITY

Eighteen weeks of bowling and ice skating have been scheduled.

Pigskin Picks . . .

Notre Dame-Purdue—Boilermaker aerials to sink Irish after hot debate.

Army-Villanova—Pasquarello & Co. to squeak by Cadets.

Cal-Navy—Bears should outmaul Middies with line depth.

St. Mary's-U.S.F.—Dons should be two touchdowns better after the brawl is over.

Stanford-Oregon—Webster will scalp Indians with Van Brocklin flips and improved attack.

at Downtown Bowl, Eddy and Jones streets, and at Winterland, Post and Steiner streets, for the two sports. Guiding women bowlers will be Shirley Sikol and Mrs. Blanche Drury, while Bessie Provost and Miss Brett will attempt to keep amateur ice skaters in an upright position.

Golf and fencing also will have field days. On Tuesdays from 5 to 7 p.m. the Westminster Church, Page and Webster streets, "en garde" will be heard as the Jilma Marshall-managed group meets. Thelwall Proctor will do the honors in teaching techniques. Harding Golf course is to be the scene of much "teeing off" when WAA golfers invade the greens on Thursdays, 2-4 p.m.

COED DANCES SLATED

Dancing programs will include folk and modern dance. Men and women will gather in the gym Wednesday evening, 7:30-9, with Violet Pfeiffer and Mrs. Eleanor Wakefield as head callers. To further group activities meetings with other community dance groups will be held. Modern terpsichoreans will meet with Lene Struckmeyer and Mrs. Bernice Peterson at 4-6 p.m. in the gym on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. An opportunity to practice, compose and perform individually or in groups is afforded to men and women who turn out for this activity.

Co-recreational badminton and ping pong are to hold tournaments the first four weeks of the Fall semester on Mondays and Tuesdays, 12 noon, in the gym and corrective room, respectively.

Heavy Intramural Slate Foreseen

Campus organizations desiring to enter teams in Fall intramural athletic program are urged to do so as soon as possible, according to Bill Harkness, director of intramural activity. Harkness announced that the intramural athletic program will get under way as soon as entries are received.

Contests will be held in basketball, badminton, horseshoes, tennis, volleyball and table tennis, with the highlight being a hopped up version of touch football, called flag football. In the latter sport, each member of the team will wear a flag on each hip. Both flags must be removed from the ball carrier before he is declared stopped. This will give the players more of a chance to make ground yardage in the sport, which, under the old touch tackle rule, forced teams to take to the air to make adequate gains.

Ribbons will be awarded to each member of the first and second place teams in each sport, in addition to individual awards for outstanding players and teams garnering the most points over the semester.

Eleven Displays Hustle In Pre-Game Sessions

BOB KEROPIAN Shows Promise

Improved team spirit and organization are two factors that Coach Dick Boyle is counting on to lift his Gator eleven from a mediocre to a successful football season.

Despite the loss of key linemen from last year's squad, Boyle hopes to field a better balanced forward wall. Tackles are still a major weakness, but the improved situation at the ends may compensate for that a bit. The flanks are in the good hands of Ray Bell and Tony Matulich, with former jayvees, Art Chaboya and Don Chabot, crowding them for starting berths. Bill Wuerch, a newcomer fresh from the high school ranks, also has been looking good at the position.

BRADKOVICH LEAVES

The guard outlook was dimmed somewhat by the departure of Joe Bradkovich, a counted on starter. Jack Newell heads the list at that position, with Dick Peters, Bill Myers and a host of newcomers in contention.

Tony Morrow and Duane Mattison have been alternating at center in practice sessions, but there also is new pivot talent vying for recognition.

In the backfield, Tailback Barney Greenberg has been throwing the pigskin well in practice and is supported by an able veteran trio of "Bud" Davis at quarterback, Morry Flynn at right-half and Pete Desalernos at fullback.

SCAT-BACKS HELP

Boyle plans a more wide-open attack this year and he has the men to make it click in 145-pounders Bob Kroekel and Bob Keroian, a pair of climax runners designed to break up ball games with their tricky open field running.

The Gator mentor has a passing natural in sophomore Don Lowart, who need only realize his full potentialities under fire to prove a great boon to the Purple and Gold offense. Freshman Hal Williams, from Mission High School, is understudying Desalernos at full, while Johnny Barrett, Bill Firpo and Kip Kermoian are assisting Davis with the quarterback chores.

Boyle expects several changes to be made in the first string lineup before the season opener October 1 with Whittier College. He still is welcoming incoming talent with open arms, so it may take a couple of weeks before the true strength of the Gators is known.

Booters Sign Up

Soccer practice opened last Monday, and is being held daily at 4 on the new campus field, with all candidates welcome to try out. Coach Jerry Kenney has lost the services of all-conference Alex Vladimiroff and Dick Zylker, but several veterans from last year's team are returning.

The Tide opens competition in the Northern California Intercollegiate Soccer Conference in a home tilt October 2 at 10 a.m. against Stanford.

L/I L GATORS

Veterans Return To Jayvee Squad

Cause for a bright outlook on the 1948 jayvee football season has been presented Coach Bill Harkness in the 65 candidates reporting for practice sessions. Harkness is pleased over the fact that enough of last year's team have returned to get the Baby Gators off to a smooth start in running the offensive plays.

The mentor named a tentative starting lineup, composed mainly of veterans and subject to change, which includes Ira "Bud" Call and Herb Osuna or Tracy Hall at ends; Ray Darling and Jerry Shelton, tackles; Jack Clark and Pete Cinquni, guards; Bill Malmberg, center; Ray Enjaian, Bob Seiler or Frank Ingersol at quarterback; Sal Solina, left-half; Irv Edstrom or Bob Hillebrandt, right-half; and Jack Caruso, Vince Custodio or Bob Branderberry at fullback.

PREP STARS HELP

Caruso, a passing back from Balboa High School, was termed by Harkness the "answer to a coach's prayer" at fullback. Hillebrandt played three years of ball at George Washington High School, where he was a breakaway threat for Coach George Poppin. The improved passing of Ray Enjaian, returnee at quarterback, was another item that caught the jayvee tutor's eye.

Football Fever: Fans, Followers Find Foglights Feasible For Fall Fracas

By FRANK FAYE

That damp stuff that creeps in on cat feet may upset the Far Western Conference this fall.

Observation has disclosed that in the vicinity of Lake Merced (State's football field), fog is not considered a phenomenon of nature. Natives of the sector have been known to give pet names to the substance, such as mist and dew, and those who don't construct a Mercury Vapor trim around the hedge are scorned and eventually run over.

Nevertheless, in the name of progress State has scheduled four games for Lake Merced, and, as if to leave nothing to chance, they are to be played at night. To the innocent, it might be said aside that night is distinguished from daylight in this neighborhood by the thickness of the vapor. If a cleaver is needed to find the front doorstep instead of a penknife, it's evening.

The whole plan shows macabre cleverness. State has been such a pushover for so many seasons. And now, shrouded though it is in mist, comes a glimmer of hope. Is this the straw that the smaller schools have been grasping for? Will they begin proselyting for terrain instead of triple threat halfbacks?

For this season, anyway, as always to the pioneer, State has an opportunity to triumph. With the possible exception of Humboldt State, who have a weather problem of their own, our opponents may find it S. F. S., the ex-fall guy, has become a dangerous, if not a nebulous football enemy.

Imagine the possibilities. What will happen to our opponents blissful confidence when they rush upon the field and enter a turbid void? Somewhere a band is playing and somewhere rooters shout, but where did they say was the fifty yard line?

Yes, many a promising team is due to be grounded at Lake Merced. Coach Dick Boyle and company could easily change the game. We see the familiar T giving way to something called the "Soup." Gone is the power play, the old time buck; the crash off tackle. Ghostly deception is the thing, and the star to find will be something on the order of a ballet dancer instead of a bruising halfback.

How about a new college yell: Chants like "Give 'em the axe" could be redressed.

Give 'em the twist, the twist, the twist.
Hide in the mist, the mist, the mist.
Do it by radar
While they're searching for nadir.
State will be off with a swish.

And for the rooter? How about minor's lamps or pompoms with a neon trim? If we can't tell the players even with a scorecard, we would at least like to know who's at the game.

19 Foreign Students Here

Iraq, Iran and Rumania are merely places on the map to most State students, but these and eight other countries are home to more than 19 registering at the college for the Fall semester. The majority have come to State to study modern American educational methods which they will take back to their own country. They will be officially welcomed to the college at a reception sponsored by the International Relations Club next week, according to its president, Arthur Padilla.

Iran and the Philippine Islands are represented by the most number of students. From Iran have come Maryam Kurdistan, Farhad Moezzi, Aliasraf Shahghali and Mohamed Sharivar. Those from the Philippine Islands include Bernadina Castro, Ines Petro, Crispin Picar and Jose Sison. Japan has three representatives: Noriko Motoyoshi, Kewa Okamoto and Shigeto Suzuki. From France have come Mary Lozano and Martha Mariluch. Others include Emma Glickfeld, Russia; William Dardano, El Salvador; Mustafa Karadaghi, Iraq; Veronica Melnikowski, Germany; Pedro Fernandez, Peru; Aristide Liatos, Rumania.

Music Alley Gets That 'New Look'

Students who expect to return to familiar haunts in the Music Alley will discover that a "new look" has seeped into the musical mecca during Summer vacation.

William Knuth, chairman of the Division of Creative Arts, and his secretary, Evelyn Stewart, are located in Annex B-3, new division office.

Lee Chrisman, recently appointed chairman of the music segment of the division, will occupy Annex B-10.

Edwin Kruth, music instructor, has moved into Annex B-8. The Music Library, formerly in Annex B-5, is found in the entire space previously allotted to the practice rooms. Westminster Center, on Page and Webster streets, will be headquarters for rehearsing students. A new radio studio and control room have been established in the portion vacated by the library.

Music Federation officers will transact business in Annex B-4-A.

More Handbooks For Freshmen

Freshmen still can obtain copies of the Student Handbook, "Alligator," in Associated Students Business Office, Hut 4-A, for the asking. Nearly 100 copies are available.

Compiled by active members of Alpha Phi Gamma, honorary co-educational journalism fraternity, as its yearly project, the "Alligator" serves as a reference book and guide to first-terms.

The yellow and black cover shows an aerial view of the campus—complete with legend and numbers.

The 24-page handbook is divided into the following three sections: Student body officers and administration; facilities and services; and organizations.

Golden Gater Cops Top Honors Again

For the third consecutive semester, the Golden Gater has won the Associated College Press newspaper service has to offer—the All-American honor rating for the Spring of 1948.

The achievement marked the fifth time the Golden Gater has been selected to the journalistic Hall of Fame. The honor rating also was received in the Fall term of 1943 and 1945.

The Golden Gater is in journalistic competition with all other college weeklies that have the same circulation.

Chuck Elkind was editor of the Golden Gater the past semester. Barbara Roberts was business manager.

Other staff editors were Jack Laycox, Rita Kuffel, Joe Heath, Eina Eichner, Ed Levitt, Gerry Hill, Luisa Hepper, Dorothy Williams, Don Garofalo, Carol McFarlane, Bob George and Anita Stowers.

Kenneth E. Young was faculty advisor.

Pair Investigate Catering Rates

Earl Homan, student body president, and Charles A. Roumasset, administrator of student affairs, were delegated early this week by the Board of Directors to investigate prevailing rates of catering companies to furnish soft drinks and hot dogs at football games at the Lake Merced Stadium.

Other business of the meeting included a report from Mr. Roumasset on exemption of the student body corporation from State unemployment compensation tax as well as Federal social security tax.

Arithmetic Test Slated

Arithmetic test for credential students is scheduled for tomorrow at 8:10 in Room A-210, according to Alexander Boulware, professor of mathematics.

Penmanship tests are scheduled for the same day, beginning at 10 o'clock in Annex A-6.

Housing Problems (Yet)?

The office of the Dean of Men is attempting to locate housing for single and married students on campus. Any persons having such housing are requested to contact that office.
